

365 Command Partner Community

Build your own value-added service around the management of Office 365 for your customers

365 Command enables partners to sell additional services to generate reoccurring revenue or manage their client environments through a single login to perform common administrative tasks and troubleshoot issues. With a free account, partners can quickly and easily build their own managed service offering.

The following are the top 5 reasons to become a 365 Command partner:

1. Increase Revenue

Realize new revenue opportunities for your business. Partners can either choose to resell 365 Command to their customers or use 365 Command to manage their customer's Office 365 environment, which will generate an ongoing, reoccurring revenue stream.

2. Expand Service Offerings

Strengthen customer loyalty and attract new customers by adding 365 Command to your service portfolio. Now you can provide Microsoft Office 365 users with a simple and affordable cloud management platform for customers who want an easier way to manage their subscription.

3. Gain a Competitive Advantage

Give your company the competitive edge to stand out from the competition by expanding your services business, enhancing value to your customers, and remaining relevant in the Office 365 market place.

4. One-of-a-kind Cloud Management Platform for Office 365

As more and more companies adopt Office 365, they will face greater pressures to reduce the complexity and costs of managing Office 365. As a 365 Command partner, you have the unique opportunity to build value-added services around the management of Office 365 for your customers.

5. Easy Access to Partner Information and Tools

365 Command provides partners with a marketing toolkit to help you build and grow your service offering. We make it easy for you to leverage resources that can be partner branded to help you go to market.
